Are you committed to addressing the health needs of your community? Learn about the 'best kept secret' in the health field – an area that encompasses science, culture, research, policy, advocacy, education, social media and much more – all with the overarching goal of helping people lead healthier lives! Students with any undergraduate degree can be competitive applicants to programs in public health; so all students are encouraged to attend. Come learn more about this amazing field at this special presentation!
