

DEMYSTIFYING GRAD SCHOOL: A HANDS-ON WORKSHOP FOR NAVIGATING THE APPLICATION PROCESS

Are you a nontraditional, first-gen, and/or BIPOC student planning to apply to graduate school? This hands-on workshop will guide you through the application process, from crafting a strong statement of purpose and securing recommendation letters to researching programs and funding. Through interactive activities, you'll gain practical tools to strengthen your applications and create a clear action plan for next steps. Participants will also receive a grad school list tracking spreadsheet, an essay writing handout, sample email templates, and a podcast playlist to support your game plan. Whether you're just starting or finalizing materials, you'll leave feeling more prepared and confident.
