

SAVE THE DATE
YOSEMITE HYDROCLIMATE WORKSHOP
October 9 - 10, 2025

Dear Colleagues,

The annual Yosemite Hydroclimate Workshop will be held in the Yosemite Valley Auditorium on October 9th-10th, 2025. This year we will host both an in-person meeting and provide an online option via Teams for viewers. If you plan to present this year, please attend in person.

This workshop is an excellent opportunity to share your work in Yosemite National Park as well as the greater Sierra Nevada region. In addition to presentations on water and climate, we welcome anyone wishing to present more broadly on Yosemite or Sierra Nevada Science. In the past, we've heard a wide range of topics, from mammal migrations to snow science to remote sensing, and we encourage all who do work in this area to submit.

In the spirit of community, this year in addition to the traditional lineup of presentations we will also host a panel discussion, networking event, and a field trip. More details on these, along with a general agenda to come prior to the event. We hope these additions will continue to foster collaborations, build new relationships, and celebrate the wonderful work achieved this year.

If you would like to contribute a talk, please send us a title and a 250-word abstract summarizing your presentation by September 8th. As in the past, each presenter will have 20 minutes for their talk and any following questions and discussion.

We look forward to seeing you all again this fall!

Hydroclimate Organizing Committee

Rachel Hallnan, Harrison Forrester, Greg Stock, and John Abatzoglou

Rachel_Hallnan@nps.gov, hforrester@sfgwater.org, Greg_Stock@nps.gov, jabatzoglou@ucmerced.edu